Cognitive Work Analysis: Toward Safe, Productive, and ...

Cognitive Work Analysis (CWA) is a framework that was developed to model complex sociotechnical work systems. The framework models different types of constraints, building a model of how work could proceed within a given work system. The focus on constraints separates the technique from other approaches to analysis that aim to describe how work is actually conducted, or prescribe how it should be conducted.

Cognitive work analysis - Wikipedia

Cognitive Work Analysis is therefore well suited to the design of flexible systems that will support workers in maintaining system performance and safety during changing and unanticipated events. As there are several kinds of constraints that can shape workers' behaviour, a number of dimensions of analysis are necessary.
