Estates And Future Interests Examples

Ownership of property may be divided up over time. The duration of a person's ownership is called an estate. In other words, an estate is ownership of property for a period of time. A present estate is an estate that entitles the owner to possession in the present. A future estate, on the other hand, is an estate that entitles the owner to take possession sometime in the future.

Future Interests: Reversion, Possibility of Reverter ...

In property law and real estate, a future interest is a legal right to property ownership that does not include the right to present possession or enjoyment of the property. Future interests are created on the formation of a defeasible estate; that is, an estate with a condition or event triggering transfer of possessory ownership. A common example is the landlord-tenant relationship.
