Communicative competence is the desired goal (i.e., the ability to use the linguistic system effectively and appropriately). Teachers help learners in any way that motivates them to work with the language. Students are expected to interact with other people, either in the flesh, through pair and group work, or in their writings.

Communicative Approach in TESOL - Communicative Language ...

The communicative approach in language teaching starts from a theory of language as communication. The goal of language teaching is to develop what Hymes (1972) referred to as "communicative competence." Hymes coined this term in order to contrast a communicative view of language and Chomsky's theory of competence.

Review the guidelines for implementing communicative activities (Brandl 2008) and consider how you could incorporate these into your classroom. Make the goal clear from the beginning. Involve all participants equally. Make sure students are adequately prepared. Provide clear instructions and examples. Make an effort to mix groups.

Guidelines | Foreign Language Teaching Methods: Speaking

When communicative language teaching (CLT) was first developed in the 1970s, it was widely seen as the definitive response to the shortcomings of previous approaches and the communication needs of a globalized world. As such, it was exported enthusiastically over the world as a ready-to-use package of ideas and techniques.
