An ecological model of commerce would imply that all waste has value to other modes of production so that everything is either reclaimed, reused, or recycled. It would depend not on carbon but chiefly on hydrogen and the sun for its energy. And it would be highly varied and specific to time and place.

The Ecology of Commerce :: A Book Review by Scott London

In The Ecology of Commerce, Hawken proposes that businesses in the developed world reduce their consumption of energy and resources by 80 percent in the next 50 years. Hawken also says that business goals should include criteria such as whether or not the work is "aesthetically pleasing" or whether the employees are enjoying their work time.

The Ecology of Commerce by Paul Hawken - Goodreads

Here is his TED talk where he describes how reading Paul Hawken's "Ecology of Commerce" in the summer of 1994 allowed his reformation from plunderer of the earth to America's greenest CEO: For Paul Hawken, environmental degradation, climate change and resource depletion, erode the natural capital on which life depends and in turn the economy that nature can support.
