In Islam, scriptures, beans traditions, and jurisprudence affect the relationship between men and women. The Quran, the holiest book in Islam, indicates that men and women are spiritual equals. The Quran 4:124.5 states: "If any do deeds of righteousness be they male or female and have faith, they will enter Heaven, and not the least injustice will be done to them." But this notion of equality has not been reflected in many of the laws in Muslim-based institutions. The Quran does not specify spec

In gender equality conversations it is often insinuated that in Islam there is no gender equality. The crux of Islamic teachings is that as men, we're hardwired by nature and confirmed by divine design and historically through the ages to do three main things: to provide, to protect, and to lead. We do this not for our own sake, not to feed our egos, but in service to others; our families and society and country.
