Workshop on Benchmarking ...

Big data benchmarks are developed to evaluate and compare the performance of big data systems and architectures. Figure 1 shows the benchmarking process for big data systems that consists of five steps. At the Planning step, the benchmarking object, application domain, and evaluation metrics are determined.

On Big Data Benchmarking | SpringerLink

To boost the performance of Big Data workloads running on our BlueData EPIC software platform, we developed IOBoost, which provides application-aware data caching. And we implemented our DataTap technology to accelerate the access of Big Data workloads to remote persistent storage. This was key as it allowed us to offer independent compute and storage scalability – a primary value proposition of virtualization / containerization that permits flexibility, agility, and scalability of workloads.
