God Weeps

The God Who Weeps How

We believe that the Father is a physical being with a body,parts and passions who truly weeps over his children. This can be helpful to my fellow members who want an explanation of what we believe or for those who are just curious as to what Mormons believe.

The God Who Weeps: How Mormonism Makes Sense of Life ...

The gospel explained in The God Who Weeps is the gospel I believe in to my very core: a personal, vulnerable God who loves His children; a continual striving for progression and becoming like God; and an infinitely compassionate and inclusive plan of redemption, not condemnation.

The God Who Weeps: How Mormonism Makes Sense of Life by ...

The God Who Weeps is a stirring and sensitive look into a personal God whose passions include an infinite capacity to feel after and respond eagerly to the pains and pleadings of His children; a life before this life for both Deity and humanity; a refusal to adopt the classical Christian view of original sin and the dismal and discouraging picture of the human race it paints; and, an optimistic glimpse into a divine plan that seeks to save all of those who wish to be saved. This important ...

The God Who Weeps in LDS Overcoming Adversity on ...

THE GOD WHO WEEPS is a reminder that “that which is earthly conform[s] to that which is heavenly.” Much like the joy and sorrow I experience as a mother, God feels the same for me and for every other person on earth, but on a much deeper and grander scale. I expected to pick up the book and devour it at once, but I was unable to do so.

A Book Review - The God Who Weeps: How Mormonism Makes ...

Verse 35, “Jesus wept,” is the shortest and most poignant verse in the Bible. It doesn’t just tell us that in Jesus God became fully human and lived life with all of its joys and sorrows. It also tells us that the Creator, the one through whom the world came to be, sees and understands our grief and, in his extraordinary grace, weeps with us.

In John 11 we saw Jesus, who is God become dust, experiencing the full depth of human grief at death. Christians know the solid hope of the resurrection of the dead and the ultimate wiping away of all tears, but in the meantime we know that God weeps with us. The God Who Weeps - All Saints North Epping

God is with us when we are hurting and mourning. He doesn't abandon us but weeps with us. He feels our pain, fear, and anxiety. He identifies with us as he is moved by what we are going through; our life matters to him, and he connects with us by connecting with our tears or participating in our life's pain.
