A keyless filling loop is easily identifiable, as you'll see a blue lever at the bottom of your boiler. To repressurize the system with the keyless filling link simply pull down the blue lever. Once the pressure has increased to over one bar, release the lever.

What to do if your boiler loses pressure | Worcester Bosch

If your boiler pressure reads less than 1 bar, it's possible that you might have lost water from the system, which needs to be replaced. This is where that filling loop (or filling link) comes in again! If the pressure gauge on your boiler indicates high pressure (above 2.75 bar), then you may need to bleed a radiator to bring the level down to around 1.5 bar. This can be tricky and, occasionally, dangerous; due to high water temperatures.

What to do if your boiler loses pressure - British Gas

The most common reason for your gas boiler pressure being too low is either a water leak somewhere in the system or reduced system pressure as a result of bleeding a radiator. How to find a water leak It is not always easy to find a water leak in your system as there will often be pipework that is not visible.
