A solution of a linear system is an assignment of values to the variables $x_1, x_2, \dots, x_n$ such that each of the equations is satisfied. The set of all possible solutions is called the solution set. A linear system may behave in any one of three possible ways: The system has infinitely many solutions. The system has a single unique solution.

System of linear equations - Wikipedia

"If a linear system is consistent, then the solution is unique if and only if every column in the coefficient matrix is a pivot column; otherwise there are infinitely many solutions. " This statement is true because the free variables correspond to nonpivot columns of the coefficient matrix.
