An Inspector Calls

Charlie Horse has very set ideas of just how his pub should be run. No food (apart from crisps and nuts) and very definite ideas about what kind of customers are welcome in his hostelry. Unbeknown to Charlie however, there is something very odd indeed going on in "The Bucket and Shovel", and for just this once, Charlie is going to be the last person to find out. Because very shortly, an inspector is going to call...Please note this is a short story and is quite difficult to categorise - there are slight elements of fantasy (although it has a contemporary setting) as well as a smattering of mystery, and also is intended to have a slight Pratchettesque feeling to it. This short story is also available in the "Paul McCartney's Coat and Other Stories" collection, along with nine other tales, and is available to purchase separately.

Two Plays

Scenic Design for An Inspector Calls

This report documents the scenic design and construction process for An Inspector Calls. A play produced by the University of Florida School of Theater and Dance in their Nadine Macguire Black Box theater. Directed by Dr. David Young, the production ran October 21st - 30th 2012. An Inspector Calls, takes place in a single night at the Birling's country estate. The play centers around a man, calling himself inspector Goole, coming to the estate to interview the family about their involvement with a girl who has just died from drinking disinfectant. The design sought to create an environment that was both regal and imposing. it also attempted to serve both the needs of the director and those of the script. Clear communication of ideas and research with the entire production team was key in making this design a reality.

Frozen Charlotte Scholastic Inc.

When her best friend dies under mysterious circumstances, Sophie sets off to stay with her cousins on the remote Isle of Skye. It's been years since she last saw them--brooding Cameron with his scarred hand; Piper, who seems too perfect to be real; and peculiar little Liliias with her fear of bones. Still, Sophie never expected the strange new rules the family now lives by: Make no mention of Cameron's accident. Never leave the front gate unlocked. Above all, don't speak of the girl who's no longer there, the sister whose death might have closer ties to Sophie's past--and more sinister consequences for her future--than she ever knew. A wondrously haunting and modern thriller, Frozen Charlotte drips with mystery and madness, secrets and survival, and the chilling sense that the impossible might be all too real.

Performing the Role of Sheila Birling in the Play An Inspector Calls by J.B. Priestley

The following paper documents my work in the portrayal of Sheila Birling in J.B. Priestley's An Inspector Calls. This role and paper fulfill my requirement for the University of Florida's M.F.A. Acting Project in Lieu of Thesis. This document provides an in-depth look at my creative process from acquiring the role through the final performances as well as hindsight analysis. In compliance with the format suggestion by the School of Theatre and Dance, this paper is broken up into five components. Part One, the Introduction, explores my graduate school trajectory and the decision to take this role. Part Two, Text Analysis, provides research on the author, the play, and the character. Part Three, Rehearsal Analysis, documents and analyzes the rehearsal process. Part Four, Performance Analysis, recounts and analyzes the performances from opening night through closing. Part Five, Conclusion, explores the lessons learned through this project.
