A transnational space challenges our notions of belonging, gendered identities perceived as fixed and specific spaces demarcated as 'home.' Transnational migrant narratives like ours suggest ways in which ideologies, cultural beliefs, familial relationships and intimacies with 'home' can be challenged and reprocessed through different emotionalities and choices.

Transnationalism is a scholarly research agenda and social phenomenon grown out of the heightened interconnectivity between people and the receding economic and social significance of boundaries among nation states. The term "Trans-National" was popularized in the early 20th century by writer Randolph Bourne to describe a new way of thinking about relationships between cultures. However, the term itself was coined by a colleague in college. Merriam-Webster Dictionary states 1921 was the year the
