French Milk Lucy Knisley

French Milk is a diary tale of her trip to Paris with her mother. They rented an apartment and spent five weeks walking around, seeing the sites, eating lots of food, in the city of lights. When I say this is her diary tale.. I knew of Lucy Knisley's work for years but avoided it due to it being a 'graphic novel'.

About Lucy. Lucy Knisley is a critically acclaimed and award-winning comic creator. She lives in Chicago. She specializes in personal, confessional graphic novels and travelogues. Her last name is confusing and has a silent K. It's pronounced kind-of like "nigh-slee."

About — Lucy Knisley

None! It's a pandemic and I have a four year old kid! I miss bookstores and libraries! See you on the other side of all this!

Books — Lucy Knisley

Lucy Knisley is an American comic artist and musician. Her work is often autobiographical, and food is a common theme. Knisley's drawn travel journal French Milk was published through Simon & Schuster in October 2008. It received positive reviews in several publications, such as USA Today and Salon.com. Comics critic Douglas Wolk described it as "a keenly observed letter back home... the pleasure Knisley takes in food and company is infectious." Knisley holds a BFA from The School of the Art Ins

Review: French Milk by Lucy Knisley | The Discriminating ...

You don't have to be an artist in the 1920s to find inspiration in Paris. As Lucy Knisley shows in French Milk, you can be an artist in your 20s, in 2007, and still find the City of Light a moving place. Knisley and her mom rented a Parisian apartment for a month to celebrate their respective birthdays: her mother turned 50, and Knisley turned 22.

Book Review - French Milk by Lucy Knisley | BookPage

The first one, French Milk by Lucy Knisley, is an 193 page graphic journal, small-format, mostly drawings (with handwritten captions) and about 4 dozen full-page b & w photos. It encompasses a little over a month spent living in an apartment with her mum in the bustle of Paris right after Christmas the year the author (a comic book artist from Chicago) turned 22.
