Tooth removal. Oral surgery is a term that encompasses a range of treatments offered by dentists, oral surgeons and oral and maxillofacial surgeons. Maxillofacial means relating to the jaw or face. Routine surgical procedures such as tooth removal can be carried out by your general dentist, but you may be referred to a specialist oral surgeon for more complex treatments like wisdom tooth removal or dental implants.

If your Brookline, MA dentist determines that extraction is the right treatment, rest assured you will be treated with top-notch care. Tooth Removal Near You. There are several reasons why your dentist might recommend tooth removal, including: Severe Decay: Left untreated, a badly decayed tooth can spread the infection to the surrounding teeth. If the decay is beyond repair, extraction will help prevent more problems.

Teeth Extractions - Brookline Oral Surgery Group

The extraction of any tooth is an irreversible procedure, which creates a particular need to ensure that the decision is taken for the right reasons, in appropriate circumstances, and also that the patient is an active participant in the decision itself, fully aware of the reasons for the decision, and whether or not there is a reasonable alternative.

Minor oral surgery - Dental Protection

Dental Extractions. The goal of dentistry is to promote good oral health and comfort so that you can lead a healthier life and eat the foods you love. We recommend dental extractions only as a last resort to protect your health, eliminate symptoms, or reduce pain – and it is never a recommendation that we make lightly.

Surgical Wisdom Tooth Extraction (LL8) by Specialist

Oral ...

One of the most commonly performed oral surgery procedures in general practice is exodontia, or tooth extraction. Indications for extraction, grouped by patient age, are shown in BOX 1. Your objective with extraction is to remove the entire tooth and root without unnecessary damage to the surrounding soft tissue or bone. The easiest way to avoid surgical complications is through adequate preparation.
