"The Cat That Walked by Himself"

Written by Rudyard Kipling Written in the style of a folktale, this Kipling classic explains the origins of the domestic cat. This fun and cleverly written tale was borrowed from Kipling's Just So Stories.

"The Cat That Walked by Himself" | By Rudyard Kipling

The Cat that Walked by Himself is a short story about how the cat, the dog, the horse and the cow met the man of the caves. We learn about their domestication. Interestingly, in the story it is the prehistoric woman who "tames" the animals by offering them food and favorable deals, except for the cat, of course.

The Cat that Walked by Himself - Storynory

(Kipling writes like a dog person.) The Cat that Walked by Himself is willing to trade some of his autonomy for comfort, but refuses to surrender his freedom and identity. The story is a distillation of thousands of years of ongoing negotiations between the oh-so-smart humans and our wonderful, sometimes infuriating cat partners.
