Richie Haven, the artist who froze the 60s’ youthful revolution in time for generations to come, passed away at age 72 on April 22nd of a heart attack. His three-hour opening set at the Woodstock Music and Art Fair in 1969 was an accident of fate, but it would not only define his life for 43 years after, it would also be emblazoned in the collective consciousness of the world’s psyche in the film of that epic event.

A talented composer, arranger, producer and orchestra leader, he made good songs great and made great songs legendary. Today we say a sad goodbye to Mr. Rome, who has died at age 90. (December 15, 2020) So many incredible talents were behind the scenes doing magic through the Golden Era of Soul Music, and Richie Rome (born Richard V. Di Cicco) was right near the top.
