The periodontal membrane is stretched on one side and compressed on the other, which loosens the tooth slightly. New bone then grows in to support the tooth. This is called bone remodeling, and it’s where the magic happens! If you want to get really technical, bone remodeling is a biomechanical process. That means the bones become stronger in response to the sustained load-bearing activity of braces.

Your bones, just like other parts of your body, are made up of living cells that constantly change. Bone resorption is part of a complex biological process that can result in shrinkage or loss of bone. In your mouth, your jawbone is most commonly affected by this phenomenon, and factors like tooth loss may contribute to bone deterioration. By understanding jawbone loss and how it occurs, you can work with your dentist or periodontist to treat this process if it affects your mouth.
