Mr. Michael McGregor is a fictional character in Peter Rabbit series of children's books written by author and illustrator Beatrix Potter. He is an elderly Scottish horticulturalist intent upon keeping the rabbits out of his vegetable garden and occasionally attempting to catch them to put them in a pie and eat them. Potter denied the character was based on a real person but her mentor in ...

Mr. McGregor - Wikipedia

From 1882 onwards they abandoned Perthshire and instead began to spend their summers at Lindeth Howe in the English Lake District, beginning Beatrix Potter's much better known association with that area. The eleven summers Beatrix Potter spent in Perthshire seem to have been highly influential on her later life and career. The local postman, Charles Macintosh, introduced her to the flora and fauna of the area, and, in particular, sparked her interest in fungi, a subject that was to become a ...

Over the next year, we can see from our Herbarium Visitors' Books that Potter was a regular visitor to the Herbarium and in her journal, she writes about her interactions with the Herbarium's Principal Assistant, George Massee. We hold just one letter in the Archives from Potter to Thiselton-Dyer, which is dated 3 December 1896.
