Arvind Ghosh - Wikipedia

It is an incumbent religious duty, established in the Quran and in the Traditions as a divine institution, and enjoined specially for the purpose of advancing Islam and of repelling evil from Muslims...[Quoting from the Hanafi school, Hedaya, 2:140, 141.], "The destruction of the sword is incurred by infidels, although they be not the first aggressors, as appears from various passages in the traditions which are generally received to this effect."

The Koran and the Kafir : A Ghosh : 9780961161408

This offensive couplet from his own poetry was used as the political slogan of his Ahrar movement against the Muslim League: Ik Kafira ke wastay Islam ko chhorra Ye Quaid-e-Azam hai ya Kafir-e-Azam. Literally translated, it implies that Mr Jinnah renounced Islam for an 'infidel woman'. Was he Quaid-e-Azam (i.e. great leader) or a great infidel?

Jinnah married Parsi Ruttie after her conversion to Islam

Some people maintain that there some verses of the Qur'an -- Islam's holy book -- that condone "killing the infidel"? It is true that the Qur'an commands Muslims to stick up for themselves in a defensive battle -- in other words, if an enemy army attacks, then Muslims are to fight against that army until they stop the aggression.

It has no roots in Islam or Arabic terminology. Some have attempted to equate "infidel" with "kafir", but these are two different terms, from two different languages that carry two different meanings. "Kafir" - كفر in the Arabic language means a "rejector" or "one who covers".

When used theologically in Arabic-Islamic literature, it refers to one who "rejects the truth of Islam".
