An Act of Parliament creates a new law or changes an existing law. What is Secondary Legislation? Secondary legislation is used to make changes to law if the existing Act of Parliament (law) allows it. It does this mainly through statutory instruments.

How are laws made? - UK Parliament

The fact that a proposal cannot become a law without consideration and approval by both Houses of Congress is an outstanding virtue of our bicameral legislative system. The open and full discussion provided under the Constitution often results in the notable improvement of a bill by amendment before it becomes law or in the eventual defeat of an inadvisable proposal.

How Our Laws Are Made: Johnson, Charles W., Koempel ...

Laws created under the Harm Principle are written to protect people from being harmed by others. Laws against violent crime and property crime fall into this category. Without basic Harm Principle laws, a society ultimately degenerates into despotism — the rule of the strong and violent over the weak and nonviolent.
