Think of beats as “checkpoints” along the way, that will complete the story and chart out a film structure. In his book “Save the Cat,” screenwriter Blake Snyder boiled film plot structure down to 15 beats. He also includes the suggested page number each beat should occur on. We included those on our Save the Cat beat sheet template.

Step 1, Say only what you need to. “Yes” or “No” answers should be all you need for most of the test. Resist the temptation to explain your answers or to go into details, although the polygrapher may try to get you to do so. Be courteous and cooperative, but do not offer any more information than is absolutely necessary. Step 2, Don’t admit anything relevant. No matter what the lines on the chart look like, nothing is more certain or damaging than your confession. The polygrapher ...
