Abstract. This paper discusses the constitutional validity of the Indian government's decision to alter the status of J&K in August 2019. It argues that the government's attempt to abrogate Article 370 and convert J&K into union territories is unconstitutional. Since October 1947, the basis of J&K's accession to India was that India would not exceed the boundaries of Maharaja Hari Singh's Instrument of Accession without the consent of the people of J&K through their elected ...
