Luke records the final words of Jesus before he died on the cross: It was now about the sixth hour, and there was darkness over the whole land until the ninth hour, while the sun's light failed. And the curtain of the temple was torn in two. Then Jesus, calling out with a loud voice, said, "Father, into your hands I commit my spirit!"

Seven Last Words of Jesus from the Cross Explained

"In these last days he has spoken to us by his Son." We have been living in the last days since the days of Christ — that is, the last days of history as we know it before the final and full establishment of the kingdom of God. The point for the writer of Hebrews is this: The Word that God spoke by his Son is the decisive Word. By the Son's own design, that word has been captured for the ages in the writings of the New Testament.

"Jesus = God's Last Word"

Christ: The Final Word - Timothy Keller [Sermon] Jesus is the final Word and ultimate truth of God. But if we don't listen to and accept God's final Word, we can't have a personal relationship with him. We have to adjust to God's finalities, just as he adjusted to ours by becoming human and dying for us.

Christ: The Final Word - Gospel in Life

There is nothing beyond that — the final, divine Word, indeed! H. R. MacKintosh of Edinburgh once said: "When I look into the face of Jesus Christ and see the face of God, I know that I have not seen that face elsewhere and could not see it elsewhere, for he and the Father are one ... All creation in heaven and earth, all the divine ways of history, all time and eternity — they meet and converge in this one transcendent Figure."
