Modern views of God. If 18th- and 19th-century rationalism and scientific attacks on the idea of God were often called "the first Enlightenment" or "the first illumination," in the 20th century a set of trends appeared that represented, to a broader public, a "second illumination.". This included a rescue of the idea of God, even if it was not always compatible with previous Christian interpretations.

Christianity - Modern views of God | Britannica

God, in the Christian view, is a Being who enters into the history of the world ... working in it His general and special providence... giving to man that knowledge of Himself by which he is enabled to attain the highest ends of his own existence, and to co-operate freely in the carrying out of Divine ends; above all, discovering Himself as the God of Redemption, who ... executes...

COVID-19 Is Not God's Judgment | Christianity Today

The Christian God is a personal God. This does not mean that God is a human being, but that God has "personality" and the capability of both relationships with other personal beings. This is seen clearly in both the Old and New Testaments, in which God is described in strongly personal terms (father, shepherd, etc.) and establishes relationships with human beings.

The Christian View of God and the World | Logos Bible Software

The Bible gives us two truths regarding our stance towards politics and government. The first truth is that the will of God permeates and supersedes every aspect of life. It is God's will that takes precedence over everything and everyone (Matthew 6:33). God's plans and purposes are fixed, and His will is inviolable.

How should a Christian view politics? | GotQuestions.org

A "Christian worldview," then, is a comprehensive conception of the world from a Christian standpoint. An individual's worldview is his "big picture," a harmony of all his beliefs about the world. It is his way of understanding reality. One's worldview is the basis for making daily decisions and is therefore extremely important.
