Making Sense Of Literature

The book Making Sense of Literature,
 John Reichert is published by University of Chicago Press.

Making Sense of Literature, Reichert

In this commonsense approach to the fundamental issues involved in understanding and evaluating literary works, John Reichert examines the method and structure of rational critical argument and its relationship to the nature of reading. With clarity and vigor, he shows how we can cut through competing critical languages to sort right readings from wrong ones, better from worse.

In Making Sense of the Bible Marshall Johnson gives readers the tools needed to better understand Scripture by teaching them to recognize and handle the diverse kinds of literature that make up the Bible. Focusing on the eight major literary forms in the Bible -- wisdom literature, liturgical materials, quasi-historical material, prophetic writings, collections of laws and precepts, apocalyptic literature, letters, and Gospels -- Johnson describes each form's central features and gives ...

Such memories are recounted to create meaning, to bear witness, to make sense, to warn, to exclaim that we were here, that we're still here. Narrative can preserve and remake the world as it falls apart. Such is the point of telling any story. Illness reminds us that the world isn't ours; literature let's us know that it is—sometimes.

On Pandemic and Literature - The Millions

Just as Victorian children needed a hero like Alice to subvert facts and thus liberate them from moralising literature, children of the 1960s needed heroes like Milo to bring rhyme and reason to learning, to make sense of facts. How remarkable that nonsense proves the perfect vehicle for both the undermining and the understanding of facts.
