In sociology, the East-West dichotomy is the perceived difference between the Eastern and Western worlds. Cultural rather than geographical in division, the boundaries of East and West are not fixed, but vary according to the criteria adopted by individuals using the term. Historically, Asia (excluding Siberia) was regarded as the East, and Europe was regarded as the West.

East-West dichotomy - Wikipedia

• The West is young whereas the east is old. • The east is contemplative whereas the west is emotive as far as their religions and cultures are concerned. • In Eastern countries, one can identify collective cultures whereas in the West it is more individualistic.
