The 5th generation iPod nano looks pretty similar to the 4th gen. model from the outside. While their cases are reasonably similar, the 5th gen. sets itself apart thanks to its inclusion of a video camera on the bottom of its back, 16GB maximum capacity, and an FM tuner, among other features. Once you know if you've got the 5th gen. model or not:

As an iPod it has pretty much all the functionality of the units that preceded and followed it, save for the video camera on the 5th generation. What sets this apart though is the inbuilt clip. A superb feature that was dropped from the successor model presumably because of Apple's utter obsession with thinness. The clip gave this a practicality for use in sport that others demand a case to ...
