Adults 75 and older made up half the deaths from Hurricane Katrina. After a heat wave hit Chicago in 1995, adults 65 or older made up almost two-thirds of fatalities after a 1995 heat wave hit Chicago. People over 85 are more than four times more likely to die in a wildfire than the total population. What's even more worrying is that for a number of reasons, including scarce financial resources, isolation, and problems with mobility, it can be hard for seniors to prepare for disasters.
