The Trinity refers to the revelation of God in three forms as Father, Son and Holy Spirit. It describes the faith in the one God, who brought the world into being through creation, has historically revealed himself in Jesus Christ and is present through the Holy Spirit. Although the Trinitarian confession is one of the indispensable foundations of the Christian faith, it has become incomprehensible to many Christians today.

Systematic Theology, by Louis Berkhof
The doctrine of the Trinity affirms that God is one God who exists in three persons – the Father, Son, and Holy Spirit. He examines how this doctrine is found in both the Old and New Testaments and identifies three simple statements that summarize the biblical data: God is three persons. Each person is fully God.
