A solution is always transparent, light passes through with no scattering from solute particles which are molecule in size. The solution is homogeneous and does not settle out. A solution cannot be filtered but can be separated using the process of distillation. A suspension is cloudy and heterogeneous.

Solutions, Suspensions, Colloids -- Summary Table

A solution is made by the dissolution of substances (solute) in another substance

(solvent) to form a mixture that is homogenous. An example of this would be a solid dissolving into a liquid like salt or sugar dissolving in water. Gases may also dissolve into liquids like oxygen and carbon dioxide in water and liquids and gases into themselves. A homogenous mixture is called a solution.
