The Gospel Centre - The Gospel Centre

Do you have to be complementarian to be gospel-centered? The Gospel Coalition is a complementarian movement. Their statement of faith clearly states that men and women are equal in creation, but that they have different, divinely-ordained roles in the family and the church. So it's no surprise that The Gospel as Center is a complementarian book. What is surprising is that they don't even engage the question of whether you really have to be complementarian to be gospel-centered.

The Gospel as Center (Book Review) | Transformed

The center of the gospel is Jesus Christ. But what does that mean? This group of studies hopes to help answer that question.

Christ: The Center of the Gospel | Christian Bible Studies

Here at Gospel Center Church, we are a FAMILY in more ways than one. As a congregation, we function as a family whose members are always there for one another. As a church, we belong to a much larger family of churches called the Assemblies of God. We also believe that because of Jesus, every believer is a part of God's family.

Joe Thorn defines the gospel-centered life like this: "[T]he gospel-centered life is a life where a Christian experiences a growing personal reliance on the gospel that protects him from depending on his own religious performance and being seduced and overwhelmed by idols." Meanwhile the gospel-centered church is "is a church that is about Jesus above everything else.
