It's a common belief that automatic cars aren't as good on fuel economy as manual cars. This is largely because automatic cars shift gears depending on what it thinks is appropriate for the road and speed. On the flip-side, having more nuanced control of a manual car means you can better adapt to the road.

Manual vs automatic cars: Which is better? - Confused.com

Automatic cars tend to be more expensive than manual, because the parts that make up an automatic gearbox are more complex. However, an automatic car might save you money in the long run through fuel efficiency. In the past, automatic cars were less fuel efficient than manual versions - but this has changed with improvements in technology.

Manual Vs Automatic Cars | MoneySuperMarket

Manual gearboxes are straightforward - you manually change gear using the clutch and gearstick. But many cars labelled as 'automatic' aren't straightforward. They might change gears automatically, but they aren't all fitted with 'traditional' automatic gearboxes. In many automatic cars you can change gears manually too.

Automatic vs manual - which should you buy? | Parkers

A manual gearbox has many other advantages, though. It's mechanically simple, which means manual cars are cheaper to buy than cars with an automatic gearbox. Compared with a traditional automatic, they'll also be better on fuel and quicker. In a traditional automatic car, well, it does all the gear changing automatically.
